

BRIEF HISTORICAL SKETCH

The Women's Missionary Society, of Central Presbyterian Church, Newark, N. J., was organized about February, 1890, at the residence of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles Everett Granger, by Mrs. Granger, whose husband was then Pastor of the church. There were seven charter members. The following were elected officers: Mrs. Charles Everett Granger, President; Mrs. George F. Linsgeman, Vice-President; and Mrs. Edwin A. Harper, Treasurer. Mrs. Linsgeman was President from 1899 to 1902, in 1918 she resigned, and Mrs. David Shank was President for a time. In 1922 Mrs. Linsgeman was again elected President, which office she still holds. Mrs. Henry Jackel is Vice-President and Mrs. B. H. Forsythe as Secretary at Large have both held long term offices. For years Mrs. John D. Bell, whose name, along with that of her beloved husband, is inscribed on a beautiful bronze tablet in the church, occupied the office of Treasurer. During her lifetime Miss Cornelia U. Haley was a warm friend and member of this society. When the Presbyterian Hospital was started in Newark, one of the rooms was furnished by this society, as well as a room in the Deaconess's Home, and still another in the home of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harper of India, known as the Central Guest Room. At present the society has 46 members. It supports two scholarships, one at Wolf Point, Montana, and one in Canton, China. In all these years of its history, the society has not only contributed to its own Boards and Agencies, but has responded to many appeals, from this and foreign countries.
